Oatmeal muffins are a fantastic way to curb the appetite. The oats bring fiber and nutrition to recipes and a satisfying feeling of fullness when eaten. BUT oats are a tricky ingredient to incorporate into a muffin without ruining its texture. That's why I call these "The Best" Oatmeal Muffins. Because I spent a very long day perfecting the darn things! These muffins have good texture, flavor, and beautiful high peaks for pretty service. The maple glaze glosses the muffin tops with a buttery-caramel sweetness that pairs perfectly with the muffins below it. A great breakfast or coffee break treat, it will wow your taste buds. May you eat with joy! ~ Cleo

Step 1 – Begin batter: First Preheat your oven to 425° Fahrenheit. Crack your egg into a mixing bowl and beat lightly with a fork. Whisk together milk, oil, light brown sugar, vanilla, cinnamon, salt, and baking powder. Be sure baking powder is completely dissolved in liquid.

Step 2 – 10 Minute oat soak: Stir in oats and allow them to soak and soften for 10 minutes. Meanwhile, prep your muffin pan (see Step 4).

Step 3 – Finish batter: Add flour to the soaking oats and stir gently to form a lumpy batter. Do not over mix at this stage or you will develop the gluten in the flour and your muffins will be tough instead of tender—but do make sure all raw flour is blended into the batter. If adding nuts, fold in now.

Step 4 – Bake: Lightly coat muffin pan with non-stick spray. Evenly divide the batter among the six cups. Bake in your well pre-heated 425° F. oven for about 13 to 15 minutes or until top of muffin is firm to the touch and a toothpick inserted comes out clean.

NOTE: If muffins remain in hot pan, bottoms may steam and become tough. Remove muffins from pan after five or so minutes of cooling. Finish cooling on a rack and dip tops in my Easy Maple Glaze. You'll find the recipe on page 3, and may you...

Cleo Coyle's Easy Maple Glaze

This is a simple buttery-caramel glaze for muffins. It hardens as it dries, giving your baked goods a sweet caramel-colored crust. This small-batch version perfectly fits my six-muffin recipe. Enjoy! ~ Cleo

Makes enough to glaze 6 muffins

Ingredients:

2 tablespoons butter (standard salted)

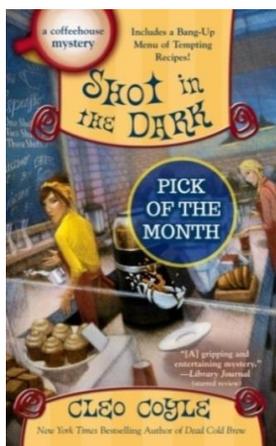

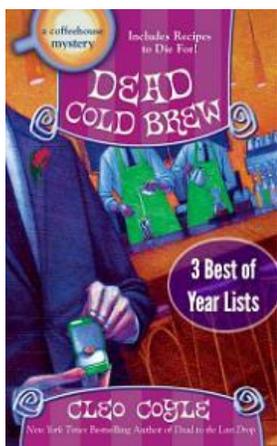

2 tablespoons pure maple syrup

1/2 cup confectioners' sugar

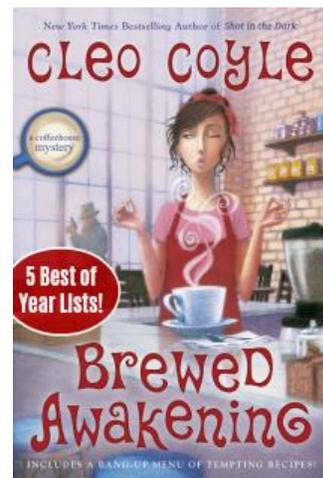

Directions: Melt butter in a small saucepan with maple syrup and whisk in confectioners' sugar. Whisk well, until smooth. Cook a few minutes while whisking, bringing to a light boil to dispel the raw taste of the sugar. Test the glaze on the back of a spoon. Does it coat smoothly and harden after cooling? If the glaze seems too thick, whisk in a splash more maple syrup. If too thin, whisk in more sugar. Keep glaze warm. If it hardens in your pan, reheat while whisking in a bit more maple syrup. Dip tops of cooled muffins and...
